Six Weeks

Jan. 22nd

4th Six Weeks
begins

Report cards will be sent home closer to the end of the month.

This week we will be reviewing out past several weeks of concepts to prep for our Unit test in Reading. We will also be re-assessing recall of sight words.

The small amount of work that is sent home is only half the practice needed. Please play with your child and create fun learning activities to make learning happen anywhere.
Studies have shown the positive effect on children when they play
and learn with their family.
Your investment in your child's learning makes all the difference.

Homework Space

While completing homework or any kind of studying, having a quiet place can help with focus and concentration. Using a quiet place helps lessen distractions and reinforces working on a task for a certain amount of time.

If possible create a homework corner or spot to help your child get in the routine of doing homework and utilizing a quiet space.

Learning to Make Mistakes

Learning to make mistakes is a tough thing to do. Practicing helps build your student's skills and confidence to try and fail. Making a mistake can be hard to deal with, so practice making mistakes and trying again to boost confidence and lessen frustrations.
