I. Contest Rules for Financial Literacy Week Participation
   a. Student Organization Contest
      i. The top 3 registered campus organizations with the most students in attendance win cash prizes. 1st place: $1,000; 2nd place: $750; 3rd place: $500.

      1. The Rules
         a. Must be a registered campus organization (registration is with Student Activities, and the organization must email an electronic version of the roster submitted directly to the Student Money Management Center at smmc@shsu.edu) NO EXCEPTIONS!
         b. Members will need to complete an org slip for each event they attend. Members may bring other student non-members with them as guests. Those non-members may be counted toward their friend’s organization totals. (The non-member who is attending will need to list their name, the organization’s name, and the member’s name they are coming on the behalf of, on the org slip for the event.) The SMMC is not limiting how many students a member can bring, but each person who signs in as either a member of an organization or as a friend of a member of an organization, can only list a maximum of 3 organizations. (Example: If you’re in 3 orgs and you want to list all 3, then you can’t list yourself for a friend’s org.) NO EXCEPTIONS!

   b. Individual Scholarship Contest
      i. At the conclusion of Financial Literacy Week on Thursday, the SMMC will draw 3 completed stamp cards. Each student will receive a $650 scholarship. Note: If for any reason a student’s name is drawn twice, the SMMC will draw again. A student can only win one scholarship.
      ii. For every event a student attends, they will receive a stamp for the event. Once the student has received 4 stamps, they can fill out the back of the card with their contact information and turn it into one of the SMMC’s designated drop boxes. There will be one at each Financial Literacy Week event and one on the front desk in the Student Money Management Center all week long.
