Honors Courses

- BIOL 1411.04. General Botany. TR 9:30-10:50. CRN 81177.
- BIOL 2440.02. Introductory Cell Biology. MWF 9:00-9:50. CRN 81654.
- BIOL 2440.07. Intro Cell Biology lab. M 2:00-3:50. CRN 81669.
- CRIJ 3350.04. Victimology. TR 9:30-10:50. CRN 81975.
- CRIJ 4377.06. Statistics for CJ Research. MW 2:00-3:20. CRN 83863.
- ENGL 1301.50. Composition I. MWF 10:00-10:50. CRN 80667.
- ENGL 2332.03. World Lit before 17th Century. TR 11:00-12:20. CRN 80498.
- HIST 1301.18. United States History to 1876. MWF 2:00-2:50. CRN 80948.
- KINE 2333.01. Honors Lifetime Health and Wellness. TR 11:00-12:20. CRN 82928.
- MATH 1332.11. College Mathematics. TR 9:30-10:50. CRN 81358.
- POLS 2305.13. American Government. MWF 1:00-1:50. CRN 82228.
- PSYC. 1301.08. Introduction to Psychology. M 6:00-8:00 p.m. CRN 83136.
- UNIV 1301.60. Honors Introduction to Collegiate Studies. TR 2:00-3:20. CRN 82499.

Honors Seminars

- HONR 1331.01, CRN 83757. Science Fiction Films (Honors Seminar I). Thursday 6:00 pm to 8:50.
  This course will be a repeat (with some variations) of last fall’s course. It is being offered under the rubric of a science seminar, but it will specifically be for students in any discipline. It is not a hard-core treatment of any scientific discipline. It will be led by Professor Aaron Lynne and the instructors will engage in panel discussion involving the students. It is a once-a-week class, which affords the chance to show entire films.
- HONR 1331.02, CRN 83766. The Sustainability Seminar (Honors Seminar I). Monday 3:00 pm to 5:50 pm.
  This new seminar will be focused on sustainability of resources, particularly food resources. It will be a Community Service Engagement course that will include contact and work with master gardeners on the faculty and in the community, as well as examination and discussion of other, related sustainability issues.
- HONR 2331, CRN 83753. The Decision Making Seminar (Honors Seminar II). TR 11:00 am to 12:20 pm. This is the longest-running honors seminar, and one of the most popular. The line-up of faculty will change somewhat, but the focus will still be on decision-making processes and the ramifications of decisions at every level—from personal to national.
- HONR 3331, CRN 83767. The Online Seminar (Honors Seminar III). ONLINE.
  This is a continuation of this semester’s online seminar. The material and instructors will be essentially the same (meaning that if you took the online seminar this semester you can’t take this one). The focus is on new and compelling ideas or developments in various disciplines (music, social history, science, etc.) with particular use made of Ted Talks.
- HONR 332.01, CRN 83760. The Journeys Seminar. Tuesday 4:00-6:50.
  The Journeys Seminar features weekly presentations by outstanding faculty or administrators on our campus (and some from other universities). The focus of these presentations naturally varies, but the emphasis is on an individual “journey,” personal and/or professional. Toward the end of the semester, each student presents the story of his or her own “journey.”
- HONR 3375, CRN 83764. The Dialogues Seminar. MW 2:00-3:20.
  This will be a continuation of previous dialogues seminars that focus on compelling topics of discussion and debate in our society. As in all seminars (but most particularly in this one) you will have the experience of listening to faculty from different disciplines present their views on the topic (and then engaging you in the discussions, too). The focus for this semester will be the civil rights movement in Texas and in Huntsville.

Honors Thesis

- HONR 4375.01, CRN 23851. Special Topics for Honors.
  This is not a stand-alone honors course or seminar. It is only for students doing an honors thesis.