The Student Leadership Retreat (SLR) strives to educate students on topics of leadership that are applicable to their roles within student organizations or other groups. As a result of participating in the SLR, students will have a better understanding of leading within groups, the importance of collaboration and teamwork, and the value of self-reflection.

Speakers during the retreat will include university administrators and students who have remained grounded and believe in developing leadership for future generations. Attendees can count on learning today’s relevant trends in becoming a better leader and how to continue balancing the day-to-day pressures of being an involved student, ultimately transferring it into future work life.
