A purple location services icon will appear next to an item that has recently used your location.

A gray location services icon will appear next to an item that has used your location within the last 24 hours.

An outlined location services icon will appear next to an item that is using a geofence.

A geofence is a virtual perimeter around a location. Apps like Reminders use geofencing to notify you when you arrive at, or leave, these locations.

iPhone
Tap Settings, then General, and then Location Services.

Android
Start the Camera app and open the menu at the left. Go into the settings and turn off geotagging or location storage, depending on which version of Android is on your phone.

A few more things to remember:

Make sure Twitter is not including GPS coordinates in your tweets.

Only allow trusted friends to know when you are and are not home (checking in on Facebook should only be done if your privacy settings are set right).
