2. Conduct instruction at a level appropriate for the learners enrolled in the various courses for which the student teacher is responsible;
3. Implement teaching and learning strategies that meet the requirements of special needs learners;
4. Monitor, assess and evaluate learning of high school agricultural science students;
5. Plan, prepare and mentor students for various extracurricular activities, including leadership development events, career development events, and supervised agricultural experience programs;
6. Comprehend procedures required of the mentoring school in regard to budgetary issues, travel, discipline management, etc.;
7. Adhere to mentoring school policies, the Texas Educator Code of Ethics, and applicable state and federal laws regarding education; and
8. Exhibit high standards of performance in regard to professionalism.

TEXTS
2. As a field-based experience, no additional textbooks are required outside of the appropriate curriculum resources necessary to conduct instruction. Such curriculum materials vary on a student-by-student basis, depending on the individual's teaching assignments.

ATTENDANCE POLICY
In case of any absence or tardiness, three parties must be contacted: the 1) school, 2) mentor teacher, and 3) University supervisor. If more than two absences occur during student teaching, the student must make-up those days by completing additional days of student teaching, or the student will receive a grade of “No Credit” for the courses. Student teachers are allowed one (1) professional development day during the semester of student teaching to attend a professional conference or interview for a teaching position. Student teachers do not have a “personal day” absence allowance and should be prepared to make-up all days missed for illness or any other extenuating circumstances.

EVALUATION
Evaluation is based on observations of the university supervisor, mentor teacher, and administrators at the mentoring school. A grade of “Credit Received” or “No Credit” will be assigned.
ACADEMIC DISHONESTY
All students are expected to engage in all academic pursuits in a manner that is above reproach. Students are expected to maintain complete honesty and integrity in the academic experiences both in and out of the classroom. Any student found guilty of dishonesty in any phase of academic work will be subject to disciplinary action. The University and its official representatives may initiate disciplinary proceedings against a student accused of any form of academic dishonesty including, but not limited to, cheating on an examination or other academic work which is to be submitted, plagiarism, collusion and the abuse of resource materials.

RULES OF CONDUCT
Students will refrain from behavior at the mentoring school that disrupts the learning process and, thus, impedes the mission of the university. All school policies, as well as applicable state and federal laws related to education, must be followed.

VISITORS AT THE MENTORING SCHOOL
Students must follow the policies of the mentoring school in regard to visitors.

ATTIRE
Students are considered to be professionals and will be required to present and conduct themselves as such. The faculty dress code of the mentoring school must be followed.

STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES
Students with a disability that affects their academic performance are expected to arrange for a conference with the instructor in order that appropriate strategies can be considered to ensure that participation and achievement opportunities are not impaired. A student seeking accommodations should contact the Counseling Center and Services for Students with Disabilities (SSD) at the very beginning of the semester.

RELIGIOUS HOLIDAYS
An institution of higher education shall excuse a student from attending classes or other required activities, including examinations, for the observance of a religious holy day, including travel for that purpose. A student whose absence is excused under this subsection may not be penalized for that absence and shall be allowed to take an examination or complete an assignment from which the student is excused within a reasonable time after the absence. A student who plans to miss a class or required activity to observe a religious holy day should inform the instructor of all such days in writing not later than the 15th calendar day after the first day of the semester.
