Attendance: Attendance will be taken for each class. You have three “free” absences after which two points will be deducted from your final grade for each absence. There are no “excused” absences except for religious holy days (see next paragraph).

Class will begin promptly. Credit for attendance will not be given after class starts.

Student Absences on Religious Holy Days Policy: The Texas Education Code requires that an institution of higher education excuse a student from attending classes or other required activities, including examinations, for the observance of a religious holy day, including travel for that purpose. A student whose absence is excused under this provision may not be penalized for that absence and shall be allowed to take an examination or complete an assignment from which the student is excused. You must arrange with the instructor in advance to utilize this excuse policy.

Disabilities: Students with a disability which affects their academic performance are expected to arrange for a conference with the instructor in order to plan appropriate strategies that can be considered to ensure that participation and achievement opportunities are not impaired.

Academic Dishonesty: Students who do not do their own work are cheating. Plagiarism, defined as copying others’ work without giving proper credit, is not acceptable. Group work is not acceptable unless specifically allowed by the instructor. Consequences for academic dishonesty include automatic failure on the assignments for the first instance of cheating and failure of the course for any succeeding instances of cheating. Do your own work when required and you will not have any problems with this.
