Course Format:
This course will include mini-lectures, discussions, staffings, intake procedures, testing and interpretation, direct counseling services, individual and group critiques (written and oral), case presentations, consultation, record keeping procedures, viewing colleagues in counseling sessions, and referral procedures.

The first three hours of class are devoted to individual counseling, marital/family counseling, assessment, interviewing prospective candidates for the SHSU counseling program, making referrals, doing research, preparing paper work, and answering telephones.

The last hour and a half is for group supervision for case presentations, consultation, didactic discussions of counseling issues, viewing video tapes, listening to audio tapes, checking progress notes, receiving and giving feedback on counseling done that class period and reviewing feedback from school supervisor.
Each student will receive one hour of individual dyadic supervision by the professor/doctoral student/ or off-campus supervisor. Supervisors will maintain a weekly log of their supervision activities.

Course Objectives: Effective counselor training constitutes a progression of knowledge and skills acquisition as well as personal and professional development on the part of the counselor intern. These components are assumed to be interrelated and in the process of becoming integrated into an individual counseling style through varied methodology and content. As this integrative process approaches completion, in relation to the training components, the individual counselor intern should have a realistic appraisal of his/her level(s) of command and functioning across these several categories. The supervised practicum in counseling is intended to accommodate this self-appraisal process as well as other programmatic objectives.

This component of the counselor program is viewed primarily as two-fold:

1. To provide the counselor intern an opportunity to check, evaluate, synthesize, and improve his/her counseling skills, theory and knowledge, and personal style of counseling through actual counseling experiences; and
2. To provide a setting wherein the supervisor(s) can assist the counseling intern in evaluating his/her strengths and weaknesses and in confirming the strengths and improving the weaknesses as they are evidenced across several relevant categories (including but not limited to reactions to stressful situations).

Course Requirements:

1. Each counselor intern will be required to engage in a minimum of 65 hours of supervised counseling experiences (some of the contact hours accumulated during on-site school counseling will be in addition to the required 65 hours on campus), including:
   a. a minimum of 30 hours of face-to-face client contact (25 hours minimum must be accumulated at Jack Staggs Counseling Clinic);
   b. testing and test interpretation, when deemed necessary;
   c. supervision regarding client sessions;
   d. observation and critiquing of fellow counselors’ sessions, and completion of counselor observation form while observing;
   e. record keeping relative to client caseload (session logs, counselor’s notes, etc.);
   f. attending professional counseling conferences (see professor).

2. During the practicum hours when a counselor intern is not counseling, he/she should be participating in one of five activities:
   a. receiving feedback from the supervisor/professor;
   b. observing a counseling session and completing written feedback for the fellow counselor;
   c. role-playing with other practicum student(s);
   d. becoming familiar with testing & assessment instruments;
   e. sharing the telephone and desk responsibilities as needed.
3. Each client session is to be audio- and video-taped for critiquing and supervision purposes.

4. Prompt, regular attendance for class seminar and for client sessions is expected.

5. Whether a member or not, the counselor intern must adhere at all times to the Ethical Standards of the American Counseling Association.

6. Each counselor intern is responsible for the following written papers as well as any others which may be assigned, as deemed necessary, by the supervisor:

   a. a session summary for each client session;
   b. a feedback form to one fellow counselor each week;
   c. a history and goal statements for each client;
   d. a summary for each client upon termination; and,
   e. a treatment plan for every client should be ready in rough draft form prior to the 3rd session and both completed and approved by your supervisor by the start of the 4th session. A DSM IV-TR diagnostic impression may be included when appropriate.

7. Type two (2) 10-minute transcriptions (from on campus cases, excluding the initial visit with the client) and critique. At the professor’s discretion, a student may be asked to do additional transcriptions. Due: 4th & 7th class periods.

8. Read and outline, in detail, “Person-centered therapy” by Nathaniel Raskin and Carl Rogers. The reference is:
   It is on electronic reserve in the library under Dr. Bruhn’s name and CNE 676. The password is “supervised”.

9. It is expected that the intern will read one journal article, textbook chapter, etc., for every new case or clinical issue encountered throughout the semester and also list the reference on the reading log form.

10. Complete A or B:
   A. Prepare a flyer, chart, brochure, etc., you would provide clients concerning the helping process. For school counselors, prepare a one-page flyer to send home to parents about you and your role as school counselor; for Community Counseling students, prepare a flyer or brochure appropriate for advertisement of your counseling practice). Due: 3rd class period.
   B. Distribute our clinic flyer to 5 sites in the Huntsville and Walker County area. Turn in a list of the location of each site. Due: 3rd class period.

11. Students need to have a professional disclosure prepared by the second class meeting.
   Two copies should be available for each new client (one for client and one for client file).
COURSE EVALUATION:

The counselor intern will be evaluated in terms of:

1. Counseling performance skills (e.g., in-session behavior, facilitative skills, procedural skills, theoretically-based techniques);
2. Counseling cognitive skills (e.g., case conceptualization, rationale for interventions);
3. Open to supervisory suggestions and recommendations and display efforts at integrating them into their work with clients; and
4. Progress developmentally during the course of the semester. In addition, grades will be determined by the input from the school supervisor and overall ratings on various evaluations.

To successfully complete the course, the student must meet the proficiencies of this course listed above. One must attain a minimum grade of “B” for successful completion of the course. Students unable to meet the proficiencies will not receive a passing grade. Students must be able to demonstrate that they can respond consistently to a client at a noticeably deeper level (Carkhuff Level 4) during at least two sessions to receive the grade of A. Students responding at Level 3 at the end of the semester will receive an F. Unless unusual extenuating circumstances occur (e.g., medical, death, emergency), you are expected to complete the course requirements by the end of the semester.

Assessment of your student and professional behaviors includes attendance, punctuality, turning in assignments when due, participation, case presentation, keeping adequate records, and your ability to critique your sessions and those of other students. Assessment of counseling behaviors will be based on videotapes, live interviews, site visitations, and class case presentations. Class case presentations must be accompanied by audio or video examples of the session.

Student Syllabus Guidelines: You may find online a more detailed description of the following policies. These guidelines will also provide you with a link to the specific university policy or procedure: http://www.shsu.edu/syllabus/

Academic Dishonesty: Students are expected to maintain honesty and integrity in the academic experiences both in and out of the classroom. See Student Syllabus Guidelines. All students are expected to engage in all academic pursuits in a manner that is above reproach. Students are expected to maintain honesty and integrity in the academic experiences both in and out of the classroom. Any student found guilty of dishonesty in any phase of academic work will be subject to disciplinary action which may include receiving an F for the course or being considered for dismissal from the program. The University and its official representatives may initiate disciplinary proceedings against a student accused of any form of academic dishonesty including, but not limited to, cheating on an examination or other academic work which is to be submitted, plagiarism, collusion and the abuse of resource materials. For a complete listing of the university policy, see:
