

Philosophy of Leadership

I define leadership as the ability to facilitate the potential in individuals that creates a committed team effort toward a shared vision. I believe leadership is situational and collaborative. My methodology is that of servant leadership which earns respect and honors two-way communication. The job of maintaining respect and setting the tone for the ethical and professional climate is what sets me apart from other leaders. The genius of leadership is in the maintenance of integrity and the continual follow-through efforts.