

A Duel took place yesterday morning, near the southern boundary of Kentucky, between Gen. Andrew Jackson, and Mr. Charles Dickenson, both citizens of Davidson county of this state, in which the latter received a ball in his arm, which passed thro' and entered his body. When the messenger, who brought the intelligence, left him, there were little hopes of his surviving the wound.

Tennessee Paper.