Tracy , can you forward this to everyone interested.

Thank you all.

My visit at Sam Huston State has forever changed my view of Texas (and USA).

Friday evening at Sam Huston I walked trough the campus taking pictures and happend to pass the theatre building where they that night were giving "Guys and dolls", I had just time to rush back and change into the suit I allways bring but never use.
(my wife allways insists on it + a few ties)

Saturday I went to the state park (i did not se any aligators) and on my way home i stopped at Papa Johns to pick up a pizza) there someone noted all my cameras and asked if i was there for the dance performance, so I ended up saturday evening attending the dance performance att Sam Huston.

I am very impressed, i would have liked to study at Sam Huston State.

Back in sweden I was very fast introduced to the real world, I was home at about 2 pm without any sleep for 20 hours, I slept for a few hours and then my daughter woke me up and asked if we were not to have any dinner!.

So I had to take my car to go shopping, I then noticed I had not changed my winter weels (they have small nails that gives you some friction on ice)

At that point I rely knew that Sam Huston State, Texas compares well with anything.
Thank You all for a most giving week.
