INTRODUCTION

THE MA PROGRAM IN HISTORY AT SHSU

Welcome to Sam Houston State University. Since 1879, SHSU has been preparing students to lead meaningful lives that are grounded in an appreciation of history, art, literature, and science. The school’s motto, “The Measure of a Life is its Service,” echoes across Sam Houston State University’s seven colleges and beyond its Texas campus through student research, creative endeavors, volunteering, and more.

The Master of Arts program in History at SHSU began more than two decades ago, and our program is one of the largest, most affordable, and most respected in the country. All of our classes are taught by resident graduate faculty who hold a PhD in their field of expertise, and we offer students a broad variety of coursework in American, European, and World history. The program serves students interested in secondary education, military service, public history, civil service, as well as those aspiring to a Ph.D. At present, more than 130 graduate students are pursuing the MA degree, which may be taken on campus, online, or through a combination of online and classroom courses in Huntsville or The Woodlands.

The Department of History’s Graduate Handbook is intended to convey to graduate students and faculty members the information necessary for their successful participation in the graduate program. It provides the academic standards, policies, and procedures that govern the program in hopes of fostering a collegial and stimulating academic environment. The handbook should be used in concert with the current Sam Houston State University Graduate Catalogue. It is each student’s responsibility to comply with all university, school, and faculty requirements and to seek out information on questions related to degree completion. It is therefore in the student’s best interests to be thoroughly acquainted with this handbook and to consult with the Graduate Advisor and members of the History graduate faculty, when questions arise.

Note: The graduate school’s website provides the university’s policies and procedures related to graduate study in the SHSU Academic Policy Manual-Students. That manual and the university’s official Graduate Catalog remain the final authority for all graduate students.

For more on the MA degree in History, please visit the SHSU Department of History webpage.

Sam Houston State University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Plan Employer and Smoke/Drug-Free Workplace. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, creed, ancestry, marital status, citizenship, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, veteran status, disability status, sexual orientation, or gender identity. Sam Houston State University is an "at will" employer.
SHSU REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION

Students are required to meet the admission requirements of both the SHSU graduate school and the MA program in History. Please see the information for Prospective Graduate Students.

MA PROGRAM IN HISTORY REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION

The following will be required for admission:

1. An Application completed at Apply Texas and submitted to Graduate Studies.
2. The requisite application fee.
3. A bachelor’s degree from an accredited college or university, with at least 18 credit hours in history or in closely related disciplines in the humanities and social sciences.
4. The submission of official transcripts from all previous universities attended.
5. A satisfactory GRE – General Test score.
7. Two letters of recommendation.

The application deadlines for this program are:

   FALL - March 1 (priority); July 1 (space available)

   SPRING - October 1

   SUMMER - March 1

To make a formal application to the program, you may apply online via the SHSU Graduate Studies Application for Admissions page.

TRANSFER CREDIT

In accordance with SHSU policy, graduate courses completed at other accredited colleges and universities may be applied as transfer credit toward a graduate degree at Sam Houston State University at the discretion of each graduate program and the college in which it is housed. Transfer credit is not automatically conferred. Only courses with an earned grade of “B” or better may be used as transfer credit. The maximum number of hours that may be transferred into the History graduate program toward the MA in history is six hours for a thesis student and nine hours for a non-thesis student.
PART I: DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

ENROLLMENT IN COURSE WORK

It is expected that all students enrolled in the program will complete a minimum of 3 hours and a maximum of 9 hours during the fall and spring semesters. All work leading to the Master’s degree must be completed within 6 years, according to university regulations, which read as follows: “A student is required to complete graduate work within a six-year period, measured from the date of initial enrollment for graduate credit in a particular degree program. The period of time a student is on an approved leave of absence will be counted as time accumulated toward that six-year deadline for completion of the degree. In the event the student nears the end of the time limitation specified above but needs more time, a request for an extension may be submitted via the graduate advisor for approval in writing by the appropriate academic dean.”

DEGREE STRUCTURE

The History Department offers three degree plans: 1) thesis, 2) non-thesis, and 3) minor option. Each of these plans has its own specific requirements (provided below). In addition, regardless of degree plan, all students must pass both a written and an oral comprehensive exam.
Plan 1 – MA in History (Thesis)

The thesis is a substantial piece of written work based on primary and secondary research. Openings for the Plan I option are limited, and approval of the department chair is required.

TOTAL 36

INCOMPLETES

The mark X indicates that the student has not been able to complete the course because of emergency circumstances beyond the student’s control. These circumstances usually prevail over other drop dates and opportunities to withdraw from the course. When the student is given the X mark, it is assumed that the student will be able to finish the course without further instruction or tutoring from the faculty member in charge of the course. Permission to award the mark of X is granted first by the instructor and then must be approved by the chair of the academic department. If the student meets the prescribed requirements of the course before the end of the next academic semester (summer school, two sessions, is considered a unit equivalent to a long semester) after the X is given, the student will receive the grade earned; otherwise, the mark X will be automatically changed to the grade of F.

ACADEMIC STANDING

In order to achieve and remain in academic good standing at Sam Houston State University, a graduate student must maintain an overall grade point average of at least 3.0 on all graduate coursework attempted. A 3.0 overall grade point average is the absolute minimum required for graduation. A graduate student who falls below a 3.0 overall grade point average at the close of any semester during which one or more semester credit hours are attempted will be placed on probation. If an enrolled student on probation fails to achieve a minimum 3.0 overall grade point average at the close of the next semester or summer school following the starting of the probation, the student will be suspended from the history program.

A committee of the department or college graduate faculty will review the graduate status for any student earning two grades of “C” in any combination of graduate courses. The committee will consider the advisability of the student’s continued enrollment in the graduate program. A student who earns three grades of “C” or one grade of “F” will be terminated from graduate studies. A student who earns a third grade of “C” or a grade of “F” during the semester or summer of the anticipated graduation will be terminated from graduate studies and will not be eligible to graduate. The appropriate academic dean may place on probation, retain on probation, or suspend any student deficient in grade points without regard to the regulations previously stated. Any appeal for a review of the termination of graduate status should be directed in writing through the graduate advisor of the program, to the chair of the department, to the academic dean of the college, and finally to the Dean of Graduate Studies for final approval or denial.

STUDENT RESIGNATION/ DISMISSAL

As per SHSU guidelines for resignation (official withdrawal) from a course from the University, a student must notify the Registrar’s Office and process a Resignation Request. The Resignation Request must be in writing and becomes effective on the date received by the Registrar’s Office. The effective date of the Resignation Request, as received by the Registrar’s Office, is the date used for determining any refund as authorized in the State Refund Policy (see Tuition and Fees Refund Policy). The student is responsible for clearing all outstanding debts owed to the University. A student who wishes to drop all courses must officially resign. A student who discontinues attending class and fails to officially resign from the University will receive the grade of “F” in each enrolled course. A student who resigns after the 12th class day of a regular semester or after the 4th class day of a summer session will receive a mark of “W” for each enrolled course. A student who resigns from the University while enrolled in a course whose duration is less than a normal term will receive a mark of “W” if the resignation occurs after one-half of that course time has been completed.

COMPREHENSIVE EXAMINATIONS

After completing the necessary coursework for a Master's degree in the History Department at Sam Houston State University, each student must pass both a written and an oral exam.

Forming Your Exam Committee

At the beginning of a student’s final year, he or she must establish a comprehensive exam committee. To do so, the student should complete the following steps.
1) Contact the professor with whom you have taken the most courses and request that he or she serve as chair of the exam committee.

2) Contact two additional professors with whom you have taken at least one course and request their service as exam committee members.

3) As you contact the committee members, you should also select three fields for your comprehensive exams. Available fields are: Early America, 19th Century U.S., Modern U.S., American South, U.S. Social/Cultural History, Women’s History, Latin America, Texas History, Pre-Modern Europe, Modern Europe, Military History, and World History. (Note: each field selected should correspond to an exam committee member).

4) After contacting and receiving notification from three faculty members willing to serve on the exam committee, the student must complete the Application for Comprehensive Exams, which includes committee members’ names, the corresponding fields, and the date and location of the written exam.

Deadlines and Dates

1) Students must submit the Application for Comprehensive Exams by the following deadline: August 1 for fall; December 1 for spring; and May 1 for summer.

2) Written Examinations will be completed on one of two days via ProctorFree in Blackboard. Written exams for spring 2015 may be taken on Thursday, March 5 or Saturday, March 21.

3) Oral Examinations should be completed between October 1 and November 15 during the fall semester; between March 15 and April 15 for the spring semester; and, between June 15 and August 1 for summer.

Online Students: Taking the Exams Off-Site

On-line students must take their written examination via ProctorFree, a Blackboard add-on (which will be coordinated through the History Department).

On-line students will take the oral exam via Skype. A webcam and microphone will be required. No proctoring service is required for the oral exam.

Preparing for the Exams

After applying for Comprehensive Exams, the student will provide exam committee members with a list of the books or other materials read for their courses. The exam will be based on information included in these materials. The student must demonstrate a command of the content and arguments presented in the assigned readings as well as a broader sense of the historiographical trends in the selected fields.
What will Faculty Members be looking for?

Students may review the rubrics below to see how faculty members will evaluate the written and oral examinations.

Written Examination Grading Rubric

Oral Examination Grading Rubric

What Should Students Know

On written and oral examinations, the student will be expected to:

1) know basic chronology and facts, including names, dates, people and places, and

2) be able to describe changes in ideas and theories about historical subjects by comparing the authors who proposed them and the books or articles in which these ideas have appeared. The student must be able to trace historiographical changes in the literature from the information learned during the program.

The Written Examination

The committee chair will gather the questions for the written exam from other committee members. The student and professors must identify a mutually agreeable time to take the written exam. Please stay in contact with the committee chair to avoid problems.

Each committee member will provide a selected number of broad questions. The student must answer the questions clearly, providing a logically argued theme with supporting data from books, articles, and material read in class. These are closed-book, closed-notes exams. Access to study materials during the exam is not permitted.

The student will have three hours to complete the exam.

Committee members will grade the written exams within two weeks. Students who pass the three sections of the written exam will proceed to the oral exam. Students who fail one or more sections of the written exam may retake those sections one time. It is likely that this will delay graduation by a semester. In any event, the student must complete any re-examination within one calendar year of the original exam date. Failure to do so will result in removal from the program.
The Oral Examination

After notification that the written exam has been passed, the student must schedule the oral exam at a time that is convenient for all three committee members as well as for yourself. For an online student, the oral exam will consist of a Skype call. On-campus students will complete their exams at the History Department offices, unless cleared for a Skype call by the Director of Graduate Studies.

The oral exams consist of questions about any or all of the information you learned in class. The student will be expected to compare and contrast ideas and concepts from books in all the fields of concentration. The student will be asked to leave the room after the oral exam, and committee members will grade the performance as pass or fail. An on-line student will hang up, and the committee will call you back after the discussion.

After passing the exam, the student will continue the graduation process. The student who fails, however, will need to repeat the oral exam within one calendar year of the original exam date even if it means registering for another semester. Failure to do so will result in removal from the program. The student who fails the oral exam a second time will be dropped from the program.

THE MA THESIS IN HISTORY

If you are interested in applying for the 30-hour thesis option, you must:

(1) Discuss your thesis idea with a member of the faculty with expertise in the field. If the faculty member agrees to direct your thesis, he or she will recommend to the Director of Graduate Studies and the Chair of the Department that you be admitted to the Thesis Program.

(2) If this request is approved by the Director of Graduate Studies and the Department Chair, you will establish a committee of three professors, which includes the faculty member who has agreed to direct your thesis. Please then complete the Appointment of Thesis Committee form.

(3) After your Committee has been determined, you must prepare a Thesis Prospectus that clearly explains your thesis topic. Please see the Sample Prospectus below for more information. Once you have drafted your Prospectus in consultation with your Thesis Committee Chair, then attach it to the Thesis Prospectus form and have the members of your committee sign off on it.

(4) After the Prospectus has been approved by your Thesis Director and the History Department Chair, it will be sent to the Dean of the College of Humanities and Social Sciences for Final Approval.

(5) For more information on Thesis preparation see the Graduate Studies page entitled, Thesis and Dissertations: Guidelines and Tools.
Enrollment in Thesis I

In order to enroll in Thesis I -- HIST 6398 -- students must establish a Thesis Committee and submit a Thesis Prospectus by the following dates:

- Fall enrollment: August 1
- Spring enrollment: December 1
- Summer enrollment: May 1

Writing the Thesis

In considering your thesis topic, you must be able to show that you have developed a new approach to the current scholarship and that there are sufficient primary sources to allow you to complete your thesis. You will use your research in primary documents to prove your point.

Once you begin researching and writing your thesis, you must register for HIST 6398.

After completing three hours in HIST 6398, you must enroll in HIST 6399 until you complete your thesis.

Plan to submit each chapter to your Thesis Director as you complete it since most professors prefer to make comments and have you revise each chapter before allowing you to move forward with the work. Please establish a system that works best for both of you.

Expect heavy editing, just as you would with a published work. Please communicate with your Thesis Director at every opportunity. You should complete the Thesis well in advance of all University, College and Departmental Deadlines.

Deadlines are posted on the University Academic Calendar.

After you have made the corrections suggested by your Director and your Thesis Committee, you should prepare for the oral defense of your Thesis.

Sample Prospectus and Thesis

Students may review the sample thesis materials we have placed online at the links below. Please note that formatting guidelines are set by the Graduate Studies office and may change from time to time. These sample documents are provided only to illustrate the type of work that may be done.

Sample Thesis by Reginald Jayne, MA 2005
Assistant Professor College of Western Idaho
Thesis Defense

Once the members of the committee have read the manuscript, you will need to arrange a time convenient for all the members of the committee to gather for the defense.

Unless otherwise notified, defenses will take place in AB4 - Rm. 452, the History Department Conference room.

If you are an on-line student, you will need to find a facility, approved by the History Department, in order to carry a defense via phone or skype. Please contact your Committee Chair to determine if the site you have chosen is adequate.

During the defense, the student will be expected to answer all questions relating to the topic of his or her thesis.

If the Director and committee approve the thesis, you will be expected to make any corrections required before sending the Thesis forward.

Once the Thesis is approved, please complete a routing sheet signed by all of the members of your committee and submit the thesis and routing sheet to the Dean of the College of Humanities and Social Sciences, and to the Library where the manuscript will be checked for margin widths and binding. Please see the Thesis/Dissertation Guidelines/Manual at the Graduate Studies Current Students webpage. The SHSU Graduate Studies webpage has further information on Routing Sheets and necessary paperwork for graduation approval.

STUDENT RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES

It is the student’s responsibility to meet all the requirements of the Graduate School and of the degree program and to file paperwork by the deadlines announced by the Graduate School (see the Academic Policy Manual on page 3). Chairs of the examining committees are responsible for the details and logistics of administering exams. The graduate advisor, together with the chair of the examining committee, is responsible for reporting exam results to the Graduate School.

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) (20 U.S.C. § 1232g; 34 CFR Part 99) is a Federal law that protects the privacy of student education records. The law applies to all schools that receive funds under an applicable program of the U.S. Department of Education. Information relating to students’ grades, race, gender, SSN, Driver’s License number, citizenship and religion are protected under this law. Information that is public (directory information) such as name, email, phone number and degree(s), honors are not protected under this law. For further information, please consult the following link or see the graduate advisor SHSU Student Educational Records Policy.
PART II: ASSISTANTSHIPS/SCHOLARSHIPS

GRADUATE ASSISTANTSHIPS

The Department of History supports nine graduate assistantships each year. Candidates must be accepted into the program and have competitive scores on the GRE. Each of the assistantships provides a generous stipend in exchange for on-campus duties, including but not limited to grading papers, lecturing, and providing research assistance. Graduate assistants are required to enroll in nine hours of history coursework per term, unless they receive permission from the Graduate Director to do otherwise. For more information about assistantships, please contact Dr. Jeffrey L. Littlejohn, Graduate Director at 936-294-4438 or littlejohn@shsu.edu.

To apply, please fill out the TA Application Form and submit the required materials described therein by the following due dates: April 1 for fall; October 15 for spring.

STANDARDS OF PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT - GRADUATE ASSISTANTS

As employees of Sam Houston State University and the State of Texas and as representatives of the Department of History, graduate assistants must comply with the rules of professional conduct and ethical behavior to which all other faculty and staff are bound.

While the Graduate Director and faculty supervisors of assistants try to make reasonable accommodations for GAs, graduate assistants must comply with assignment schedules.

GROUNDs FOR DISMISSAL - GRADUATE ASSISTANTS

Gross violation of University policy, criminal violation of Texas state and United States federal laws, or failure to comply with workload expectations will result in dismissal from the graduate assistantship, either by non-renewal of the assistantship appointment at the end of an academic year, termination at the end of a semester, or immediate dismissal.

Dismissible offenses include but are not limited to the following:

• Clear violations of ethical conduct, including violations of confidentiality
• Failure to fulfill teaching duties, tutoring obligations, and editorial and research assignments
• Unwillingness and/or failure to respond to supervision or remediation
• Misrepresentation of credentials
• Conviction for academic dishonesty in classwork
• Failure to maintain academic good standing
FAMILY EDUCATIONAL RIGHTS AND PRIVACY ACT (FERPA)

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) (20 U.S.C. § 1232g; 34 CFR Part 99) is a Federal law that protects the privacy of student education records. The law applies to all schools that receive funds under an applicable program of the U.S. Department of Education. Information relating to students’ grades, race, gender, SSN, Driver’s License number, citizenship and religion are protected under this law. Information that is public (directory information) such as name, email, phone number and degree(s), honors are not protected under this law. TITLE IX NOTICE OF NON-DISCRIMINATION

Sam Houston State University complies with Title IX of the Higher Education Amendments of 1972 (Title IX), which prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex in educational programs or activities; Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (Title VII), which prohibits sex discrimination in employment; and the Campus Sexual Violence Elimination Act. Sexual misconduct, as defined in the University’s Sexual Misconduct Policy, constitutes a form of sex discrimination prohibited by Title IX and Title VII.

ADDITIONAL OPPORTUNITIES FOR SCHOLARSHIPS

Scholarships in the History Department are merit-based awards that are given to students only after a semester or more in the program.

For a complete list of scholarships available at Sam Houston State University, see: http://www.shsu.edu/dept/financial-aid/scholarships/

This course examines the diverse history, peoples, and cultures that have occupied the American South. The topic will vary by semester, among those topics are economic and political history, religion, race, literature, the Civil Rights movement, and women's experience. The course constitutes the core of a Southern history concentration. Credit 3.

HIST 5375 <HIS 575> Recent America, 1876-1933. Studies designed to cover social, economic, cultural, diplomatic and political developments of late-nineteenth and 20th century America. Students will explore major recent historical interpretations and/or conduct research in primary sources. Credit 3.

HIST 5376 <HIS 576> Contemporary America, 1933-Present.
This course will offer a careful survey of United States history since 1933, including such topics as the Great Depression, the New Deal, the Cold War, the Vietnam War, the Civil Rights Movement, the Feminist Movement, the Watergate Crisis, the Iranian Hostage Crisis, the Reagan Era, the End of the Cold War, and the Roots of 9/11. Students will explore major recent historical interpretations and/or conduct research in primary sources. Credit 3.

HIST 5377 <HIS 577> The American West.
This course covers the American West as a region with a strong emphasis on the 19th century. It will explore the interpretive development of the field as it has progressed from a traditional focus on Anglo expansion to a more balanced view that embraces race, gender, and the workaday West. Students will explore major recent historical interpretations and/or conduct research in primary sources.

HIST 5378 American Cultural and Religious History
A study of selected topics in the cultural and religious history of the people of North American; the course focuses on the patterns of belief and values held by American men and women which have shaped each major period from colonial times to the present. Credit 3.

HIST 5380 <HIS 580> American Historiography.
This course is an intensive readings course for graduate students in major topics of interest among American historians. Students will understand the complex nature of historical practice and the development of past and current fields within the discipline. Students will explore major recent historical interpretations and/or conduct research in primary sources. Credit 3.
HIST 5381 World Historiography
This course represents an in-depth examination of the interdisciplinary methodologies of the New World History. Students will investigate the writing of world history as a projection of power and dominance in the era of global imperialism and colonialism; non-Eurocentric explanations for the "rise of the West"; and the latest scholarly efforts to construct a non-privileging world history. Credit 3.

HIST 5382 <HIS 582> Topics in the History of Women.
A study of selected topics in the history of women; the course focuses on the experiences of women of diverse cultural, racial, and ethnic backgrounds. The course examines women’s responses to social forces during critical periods in their history. Students will explore major recent historical interpretations and/or conduct research in primary sources. Credit 3.

HIST 5383 <HIS 583> United States Diplomatic History.
This course is a study of selected topics tracing the development of United States foreign policy from 1775 to the present. Topics may include diplomacy of the Revolutionary Era; the Early Republic; Manifest Destiny; the Civil War Era; Imperialism and Expansion; the Great Crusade and after; World War II; and the Cold War. The emphasis is on the forces that have influenced diplomacy and on the changing interpretations of United States foreign policy. Students will explore major recent historical interpretations and/or conduct research in primary sources. Credit 3.
