Ethel Brown Nicholson Endowed Scholarship

Ethel Brown Nicholson and her husband of 33 years, William F. Brown lived a full life, traveling around the world eight times with Bill's business as president of the European operations for Conoco. They met kings and queens and were involved many social functions. Ethel was always the perfect hostess, always dressed beautifully, and was always generous to those in need. She enjoyed golf and bridge. In 1967, they built a house in Elkins Lake, Huntsville, Texas where she lived until her death in 2012. She established several scholarships at Sam Houston State University in memory of her first husband, William Brown, and James Boseman Jr., son of her very special friends, Judy and James Bozeman.

John D. Nicholson, Sr., is her loving second husband of 34 years. This family included stepsons, John Douglas Nicholson, Jr. and Bradley Alan Nicholson, six grandchildren, and eight great-grandchildren.

Ethel Nicholson Endowed Scholarship in Memory of James D. Bozeman, JR.

A fourth generation Houstonian, Jim Bozeman was fun loving and outgoing - - a free spirit. He played center in his ice hockey league with the finesse of a figure skater. Having attend the High School for Health Professions, he spent a summer in Honduras as a volunteer with the Amigos de las Americas program to provide inoculations for babies and children. Becoming interested in computers, he built his own clone before the term was popular. At the University of Texas at Arlington, he majored in architecture, because it offered the unique combination of art and engineering. His entrepreneurial endeavors included a construction business in Dallas and later a computer consulting business. Returning to Houston in the late '80's to assist his family trust company with computer capabilities and systems management, he was dedicated to the trust business, and became an important contributor to its growth and success. His interests were as diverse as his background. He was technically oriented, but loved art, nature (rock hunting in particular), travel and the outdoors. He also loved country and western music and was a gourmet cook. Jim faced the last two years of his life with courage, determination, and the love of his family.

Glenn and Katherine Payne Theatre Scholarship

Dear Theatre Major: Welcome to Sam Houston State's Department of Theatre, which I believe is one of the best in the State of Texas, and possibly one of the best in the country in view of all the out-of-state students who come here to participate in the program. I want to wish you the very best in your endeavors, both while in school and hopefully, after your graduation, professionally in the crazy and wonderful world of theatre. My wife and I married young and promptly had five children, so after schooling we did not have the time or financial means to pursue full time work in the profession; however, we continued to follow our passion in our spare time. We worked with theatres wherever we were living, in Texas, Pennsylvania, Arkansas, and Arizona, and now back in Texas. We did do some professional stints (i.e. paid work mostly in directing) but primarily semi-professional, and non-professional, and we had a summer rep company for a time in Pennsylvania. We also did some work in films. This brings me to my main reason for telling this story. If you are unable to make a living working in theatre, please don't abandon your love of the field. With your love of theatre, and its excitement, satisfaction, and, yes, its disappointments at times, lend your talent and knowledge to the groups wherever you may wind up. You will meet and acquire many, many friends, and will help improve those companies so that they will become even more valuable and productive.

In a few words, follow your dreams even if you can't do it full time. Thank you for loving theatre as did my wife and I. -Glenn M. Payne

Her first semester at SHSU as a Musical Theatre major, she was cast as Judy Turner in A Chorus Line. As one of two freshmen in the show, the bar was set high, and Jenny more than exceeded expectations. A stellar dancer, strong singer and very funny actress, Jenny embodied the idea of a triple threat. But she was much more than a talented young woman. Jenny was a good friend, castmate, and colleague - the kind of person you want to work with. Although her time on this earth was cut far too short by cancer, her impact and legacy lives on through this scholarship.

THE JENNIFER KATHLEEN WEBER MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP:

The Daniel Sellers Memorial Endowed Scholarship in Musical Theatre

Dan Sellers loved life. He enjoyed being around people; he enjoyed being alone. He read all the time. He painted; he wrote; he cooked and gardened and enjoyed hunting and fishing and judo. Dan learned how to fly later in life, received his pilot's license and had a great time being in the skies. Dan was generous to a fault - usually anonymously. He wanted to be able to give without others feeling obligated. He was risk taker, a free spirit, a traveler. He served as a Peace Corp Volunteer in Afghanistan in the 1970's. He was a teacher, a parole officer, an airplane mechanic, a social worker. Dan enjoyed life's journeys. He flowed the roads that called to him as each emerged.

Although illness took its toll on Dan in the final years of his life he still maintained an interest in the arts, and critical discourse and was intensely curious and perceptive. He loved to play the Devil's advocate. He would sometimes take the most outrageous stance simply to make a point. Dan was very connected to the Department of Theatre and Musical Theatre - his significant other of 44 years was a faculty member in the department. Dan frequently came to shows presented by the Department of Theatre and Musical Theatre, and while he loved the regular plays he always tried to make it to the musicals. Dan had a wicked sense of humor and was not above laughing at himself. He loved his cats beyond all measure and took comfort in their company. Dan was a wonderful human being gone to soon. This scholarship is established in his memory so that he will be able to help future students realize their dreams.

Penelope Hasekoester (Penny) came to Sam Houston State University in 1993 as a pool faculty member in the Department of Theatre and Dance. Over the years she became a full professor and tenured faculty member of the department. Ms. Hasekoester became Chair of the Department of Theatre and Musical Theatre. Penny served as Chair for thirteen years until 2017, when she became and Associate Dean in the College of Fine Arts and Mass Communication. Penny Hasekoester and Dan Sellers had a long-time, loving relationship. They were significant others for 44 years. Penny Hasekoester created this scholarship in Dan Sellers' memory as he was an enthusiastic patron of the arts and felt strongly about helping young artists pursue their dreams.
