

Nadia J. Arensdorf

Thesis Defense

College of Humanities and Social Sciences

Department of History

M.A., History

British Soldiers' Life Histories: Global Mobility, Army Reform, and British Identity in the Nineteenth Century

Examining the memoirs of British soldiers who served in the Peninsular War, Crimean War, and conflicts in India offers a firsthand perspective of nineteenth century Britain. Spanning the century, these soldiers' experiences combined to foster the transformation of empire through their extensive mobility, their challenges for army reform, and their growing sense of Britishness in Britain around the world.

Event Information

November 5, 2021

11 a.m.

By Zoom

Committee Members

Dr. Sarah Mass, Director

Dr. Brian Matthew Jordan

Dr. David Mayes

Sam Houston State University

PUBLIC DEFENSE ANNOUNCEMENT