

Breanna Hernandez

Thesis Defense
College of Humanities and Social Sciences
Department of English
MA, Literature

Rhetorical Ecologies And Their Affect on Community Health Organization's Communication with Transgender Clients

An examination of rhetorical ecologies that surround community health organizations that provide care to transgender clients. This project examines the websites of Legacy Community Health Organization in Houston and San Francisco Community Health Clinic in San Francisco to assess their effectiveness from a rhetorical standpoint as well as from an accessibility standpoint.

Event Information

Date March 25, 2024

Time 2:00 PM

Location Evans Building

Committee Members

Dr. April O'Brien

Dr. Ada Hubrig

Dr. Leslie Anglesey

Sam Houston State University

PUBLIC DEFENSE ANNOUNCEMENT